Statewide

Annual Renewal of Revocable Permits on the Islands of Hawaii, Maui, Molokai, Kauai and Oahu

BACKGROUND:

On November 18, 2005, under agenda item D-17, the Board approved, as amended, the continuation of the revocable permits listed in Exhibit A, on a month-to-month basis for another one-year period up to December 31, 2006, except for permits that are in arrears of rental payment for more than 60 days and/or have been approved for forfeiture by a separate Board action. With the amended Board Action, the Board also approved a nominal 3% increase in the rents for permits under the Commercial, Industrial or Baseyard/Storage category, to reflect the rising trend in rents for these types of properties.

Previously, on April 22, 2005, the Land Board, under agenda item D-17, approved methodologies to review rents of revocable permits for future years. The Land Board was presented with a variety of alternative methodologies by which to review the revocable permits statewide. In summary, Method 1 involved sampling at least 10% of each type of RP on each island. Method 2 involved conducting individual appraisals, if necessary, of each permit. Method 3 considered the use of the Consumer Price Index to apply adjustments to the rent. Method 4 involved interviews and research. Method 5 considered a periodic scheduled review based on the permit type or use. Staff then evaluated each methodology, as shown below from an excerpt from the Board submittal on April 22, 2005, agenda item D-17, and recommended the Board approve a blend of various methods specific to each appraisal type, for the reasons repeated below.

EVALUATION OF ALTERNATIVES

Staff believes Methods 1 and 2 are time consuming and should only be considered where necessary. These methods require substantial staff resources for research, analysis, and possibly travel. Currently, the Appraisal Section is comprised of one staff appraiser. Method 3, using the indices, would not address rural and outer island properties appropriately. The CPI and most other indices focus on large metropolitan areas and may not accurately reflect changes in land values.

Method 4 is both a feasible and reasonable alternative among those discussed above for reviewing rent for commercial, industrial and residential-type permits. Since these types of permits are most likely to be affected by changes in the real estate market and economy, this method adequately tracks recent trends in rents. Discussions with local real estate experts such as brokers, property managers, appraisers, and consultants is considered the best way to gain insight and knowledge of local real estate trends. Most major brokerages are fairly active in these real estate segments and would have the market data required for making fairly accurate adjustments to permit rents.

Method 5 makes the most sense for the review of agricultural, pasture, and landscaping-type permits. Because these types of permit rents appear to be relatively stable and less influenced by market fluctuations, staff feels a predetermined schedule of review based on the nature of these permits, in conjunction with Methods 3 and/or Method 4, is appropriate. This would allow staff to dedicate resources to other appraisal needs such as new dispositions and lease reopenings. Since most long-term ground leases contain step-ups or reopenings every ten years, staff recommends that access/utility, parking, community and government, landscaping and recreation permits similarly should be reviewed every 10 years. Past history has shown that agriculture and pastureland rents have not been very volatile. Farm price of beef, which has been relatively stable, is more of an influence on pasture rents. Therefore, Staff feels periodic review every five years is appropriate for agriculture and pasture permits.

Fee simple residential values have been growing in recent years, however the leasehold market has remained relatively stable. Discussions with appraisers and real estate brokers have indicated that with the influx of fee home and condo construction on the upswing, market participants would still look favorably upon a fee purchase before considering leasehold property. Residential RP's are considered leasehold because the tenants occupy state land. Therefore, staff feels periodic reviews every five years for residential permits is appropriate.

Proposed Methodology

The methodologies summarized below were approved by the Land Board on April 22, 2005, under agenda item D-17, in reviewing RP rents:

Permit Type	Methodology	Reason	Next Scheduled Review
Access/utility easements, Parking	Methods 4 and 5 – Review RP rents once every 10 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents stable.	1/1/2015
Agricultural and Pasture	Methods 4 and 5 - Review RP rents once every 5 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents fairly stable. Cost/benefit ratio justifies.	1/1/2010
Baseyard/Storage; Commercial; Industrial	Methods 3 and 4 – Review RP rents each year based on a review of market indices, interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Detailed, annual market research will ensure rents will reflect market.	Annually
Community; Government	Methods 4 and 5 – Review RP rents once every 10 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents stable.	1/1/2015

Landscaping; Recreational	Methods 4 and 5 – Review RP rents once every 10 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents stable. Cost/benefit ratio justifies.	1/1/2015
Residential	Methods 3, 4 and 5 – Review RP rents every 5 years based on a review of market indices, interviews, and research to determine whether adjustments are warranted.	Timely adjustments to rents will track closely to market.	1/1/2010

The Staff Appraiser should have the discretion to account for specific circumstances and to make adjustments (which will be explained in the appraisals).

In conformance with the Board action on April 22, 2005, staff will focus on the current real estate market trends affecting the commercial and industrial revocable permits, statewide. The other categories are to be reviewed per the recommended schedule as summarized above. Therefore, for the remaining permits not classified as commercial, industrial, or baseyard/storage, staff is recommending no changes to those permit rents at this time.

RESEARCH:

While conducting staff review of commercial and industrial permit rent, interviews with real estate professionals and research of available market studies were conducted. The trends which were apparent from last year's research appear to be continuing. An assortment of real estate participants were surveyed to gain insight into market rent trends in the commercial and industrial sectors. Market reports on the industrial, office, and retail markets were also researched.

Industrial Sector

According to local real estate appraisers, they all agree that the local industrial market is experiencing a scarcity of inventory, which has carried over from last year and is continuing until more new construction is completed to alleviate the shortage of small to medium-sized lease space. This is indicative of the historically low vacancy rates and the rising land costs of industrial-zoned land. Colliers Monroe Friedlander reports Oahu industrial asking rents at $1.07, an increase of 7% from last year's average of $1.00 per sq. ft. per month. The current industrial rent levels are at their highest since Colliers has begun tracking. Furthermore, the vacancy rate is down to 1.8% as of mid-year. The small to mid-sized industrial space is especially scarce. Any relief will have to come from more industrial space construction which will be somewhat curtailed by high industrial land prices and rising construction costs. The supply of industrial zoned land ready for development continues to be in high demand by investors and owner-users.

Most industry reports indicate that industrial land values are still on the rise but the rate of increase of these values is not as dramatic as in recent years. These reports also urge caution due to a potential stabilization period over the next couple of years resulting from slowing residential home sales, a shortage of workers in an expanding job market, and the rise in construction and fuel costs.

The forecast is for stable and continuing demand for industrial space spurred by the growth in the construction sector, retail expansion, and favorable interest rates. In general, industrial land values and rents are still on the rise but not as dramatic as recent years.

Reports from various professionals on the neighbor islands also indicate strong growth in the commercial and industrial market sectors. Estimates from an appraiser in Hilo report the rising trends in industrial rents and land values is still ongoing but the pace of increases is leveling off. West Hawaii is also in a growth mode regarding industrial properties. Similar value appreciation in these sectors was reported from Maui and Kauai. An appraiser based on Maui indicates land values have climbed approximately 5%-10% in the last year. Vacancies are also low. Industrial land prices are also trending upward roughly 10% per year over the last couple of years. Inventory is fairly tight for vacant land zoned for industrial use and industrial space for lease. Thus, industrial condos are a popular commodity. With high construction costs, the condo market appears to be a popular alternative for developers with land. Some investors are apparently land banking and awaiting lower construction costs.

A Kauai appraiser indicates vacant commercial and industrial land with good frontage is holding value or appreciating slightly. Improved properties have been slightly more marketable due to the high cost of labor, materials and construction. He estimates a 5% to 8% compounded rate of increase in commercial and industrial rent over the last few years and a similar rate of increase in property values.

Research indicates industrial land values and space rents continue to be trending up for the near term. Therefore, staff proposes a 3% increase to be applied to all permits related to industrial and baseyard/storage purposes, with rents to be rounded up to the nearest dollar.

Commercial Sector

Retail and commercial rents also have been increasing, with the Oahu retail sector rents increasing 2.1% from the beginning of the year to mid-year 2006 according to the mid-year retail report prepared by Colliers. Asking rental rates had a marginal increase from $2.85 to $2.91 per sq. ft. over the past six months, a 2.1% increase. The vacancy rate fell from 4.46% to 3.02% over the past six months, the lowest vacancy rate in the last 9 years. The Colliers report indicates the growth in the retail sector should continue through 2006, though this could be slowed by a shortage of retail space, higher construction costs, and a labor shortage.

The office market is also experiencing growth as more than 84,000 sq. ft. of Oahu office space has been absorbed since the beginning of the year, lowering vacancy rates to below 7.69%, the lowest level in more than a decade. Since the beginning of the year, Oahu office rents have increased by 3.62% to $2.45 per sq. ft. per month over the previous six months, from $2.36. Colliers reports that if current trends continue, office vacancy rates could fall below 6% by the end of 2007.

As reported earlier, the neighbor islands are also experiencing strong growth in the commercial and industrial market sectors. The Hilo appraiser active there reports similar strong demand for commercial space on both the east and west side of the Big Island. Maui land values and rents are also trending up in the commercial and office sectors and experiencing low vacancies. With the scarcity in leasable space, commercial and office condos are a popular alternative for users and developers.

On Kauai, commercial land values and space rents somewhat follow industrial trends so there is still an apparent upward trend in commercial property sales and rent levels. Vacant commercial land may be somewhat stable or slightly appreciating as well but high construction and labor costs are impeding the escalation of land values somewhat.

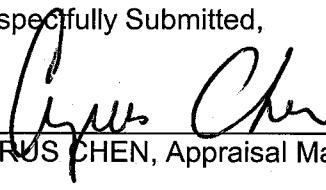

Similar to what is reflected in the industrial market, Staff feels the same rate of increase, i.e. 3%, should also be applied on commercial and office RP's. We have one permit, RP 3528 (Hilton Hawaiian Village), paying base rent plus percentage rent. Staff recommends the proposed increase only be applied to the base rent of RP 3528, but not the individual percentage rent. Rents will be rounded up to the nearest dollar.

RECOMMENDATION:

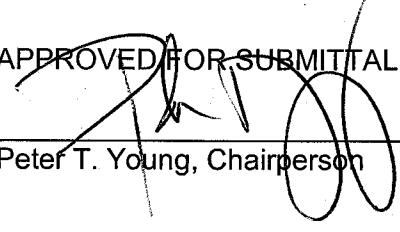

That the Board approves:

- A. Approve the continuation of the Revocable Permits listed in Exhibit A on a month-to-month basis for another one-year period up to December 31, 2007, except for permits that are in arrears of rental payment for more than 60 days and/or have been approved for forfeiture by a separate Board action. Permits in arrears of rental for 60 days or more and/or approved by the Board for forfeiture shall not be renewed.
- B. Approve proposed monthly rent up to December 31, 2007 for Revocable Permits as listed in Exhibit A, provided however, the Land Board reserves the right at any time to review and reestablish new rental charges for any Revocable Permit to reflect market conditions or the fair market rental for the rights and privileges granted by such Revocable Permit.
- C. The rental rate changes shall be effective January 1, 2007.

Respectfully Submitted,
